W. W. STRATTON GETS RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Salt Lake Student Selected by Utah Board for Distinguished Honor.

Warren W. Stratton of the University of Utah was yesterday honored by the Utah Oxford board as the next man to go from this state as a Rhodes scholar to Oxford, England. Mr. Stratton took the examinations in October of this year and was the only one who qualified. After looking carefully into such characteristics as are required of a Rhodes scholar the committee met yesterday in President Kingsbury's office and recommended Mr. Stratton for the honor.

The examinations are not competitive but merely qualifying. The man passing with the highest grade is not necessarily chosen to represent the state. After passing, a student is judged upon the academic record he has maintained throughout his entire school life, his moral character, his tendency towards leadership among his fellow students and his interest and participation in outdoor sports. In the latter requirement Mr. Stratton was found deficient and was recommended upon condition that he do some athletic work between now and next September, the time for leaving for England.

Warren Stratton is the son of Dr. Grace Stratton of this city. He was born twenty years ago in Omaha and removed to Salt Lake with his mother seven years ago. He did the last three years of his high school work at the Salt Lake high school, where he attained a reputation for splendid speaking and debating. He was also a captain in the cadet corps and was president of the first high school senate.

Since entering the university Stratton has been interested in debates, and last year was the leading debater of the school. Stratton passed examinations in Greek and Latin and elementary mathematics. He will leave for Oxford next September, where he will spend the following three years.

The scholarship allows the holder $200 a year which he may spend as he wishes on the condition that he do a certain amount of traveling during his vacations.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

[From a series of elaborate chemical tests.]

Comparative digestibility of food made with different baking powders:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

99 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

67½ Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 Per Cent. Digested

Royal Baking powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

ONLY A CUR, BUT HE IS KINDNESS ITSELF

"He was just a common cur dog, a derelict of the streets, of nondescript color, with one eye of the truest blue and the other the gentlest of browns," said Mrs. Evelyn Ramel, secretary of the State Humane society, last night in speaking of her experience with a canine wayfarer of the streets.

"It was his eyes that attracted my attention and his gentle nature that later made me go into a butcher shop and buy him a bone. Later he found occasion to meet me after when I was down town and always got a morsel of something for looking me up."

The startling thing happened yesterday, however, when Mrs. Ramel heard a scratching at the door of her room in the Woodruff apartments. She little dreamed that it could be the dog that had remembered her kindness, for dogs are rigidly excluded from the apartment house. It was, though. His blue eye shone with the truth of the story that he could not tell while his brown one pleaded for more of the morsel that he himself had known, as he held up to the consideration of his benefactress a bedraggled puppy. The little creature was almost dead; it had been thrown into the streets and kicked about.

Mrs. Ramel took them in. She found homes for each, for the puppy because he was so cute, and for the dog because of the disposition that he had shown to be hidden within the coat of a mongrel.

BANKS CALLED UPON FOR A STATEMENT

In accordance with the law passed by the last legislature, C. S. Tingey, secretary of state and ex-officio bank commissioner, yesterday sent out notices to all state and private banks in the state calling upon them to make reports covering all details of their business up to November 30 of this year.

Under the law each bank must file the report and must publish the contents in a daily newspaper. Proof of publication also must be filed with the bank commissioner. National banks are exempt from this order.

Bids for Well Opened.

At a meeting of the state land board yesterday bids were opened for the drilling of an experimental well in San Juan county near Monticello. The contract amounting to about $1000, will be let today or Thursday. It was reported to the board that payments of principal and interest due on loans and farm land sales are pouring into the office at the rate of $5000 or $6000 a day. A total of half a million dollars will be due by the first of the year.

How to Look Years Less Than Your Age

(From The Dermatologist.) The most aged face will look years younger after the use of ordinary medicalized wax for from ten days to two weeks. This remarkable substance, because of its peculiar absorbent power, actually removes the thin veil of faded or withered outer cuticle, a little at a time. Gradually the fresher, more youthful skin underneath is revealed. This absorption process being a purely hygienic one, an entirely natural complexion is acquired—quite different from the artificial complexion, which appears anything but girlish, though often bearing painful evidence of childishness. An ounce of mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to rejuvenate any complexion. It is not like cold cream at bedtime, and removed mornings with warm, sudsy water. To eradicate such age marks as wrinkles and furrows, make a wash lotion by dissolving an ounce of powdered saccharine in a half pint witch hazel. This has wonderful astringent and tonic properties. It quickly effaces all kinds of wrinkles, no matter how caused, making the skin firm, smooth and young looking.
